The Master Plan: Crafting a Shared Vision for the Future of Worcester

In 2017, the City of Worcester announced plans to undertake a city-wide master plan, the first in three decades. The plan will consider the needs of both the Downtown and the neighborhoods, focusing on land use and opportunities to encourage new investment and vibrancy. This panel of experts will explore the construct and purpose of a master plan and offer considerations for the City of Worcester as it begins its 18-month initiative.

Panel:

- Judi Barrett, Plymouth Regional Economic Development Foundation
- John Mullin, University of Massachusetts Amherst
- George Proakis, City of Somerville

Moderator:

- Kathryn Madden, Clark University
